

The Quiet Advantage.

A high-conviction visual system for a technical operator who builds the systems behind high-stakes work.

CALM / EXACT / COMPOSED

Power through composition.

The portfolio should feel like a considered body of work - not a themed interface. Strong hierarchy gives every detail a purpose.

01 Editorial scale

Large type carries the point before supporting detail appears.

03 Quiet color

Indigo guides interaction. Amber marks real evidence. Neither becomes wallpaper.

The result is intentionally not a 'signal' dashboard.

It is mostly monochrome, softly dimensional, and punctuated by rare color.

FIRST-FRAME RULE

Experience.

A decisive opening. No floating dates, no decorative labels, no competing ideas.

02 Evidence, not decoration

Metrics and code-like details appear only when they prove something.

04 One authored moment

A single cinematic entrance per page; interaction remains controlled afterward.

A small system with a long reach.

Color is role-based. Type is direct. Contrast does the heavy lifting.

IBM Plex Mono is reserved for measurements, dates, and compact technical proof.

The carousel is the visual source of truth.

Use its restraint, hierarchy, and evidence strip across the rest of the site.

ACTION HIERARCHY

Pills are actions, not labels.

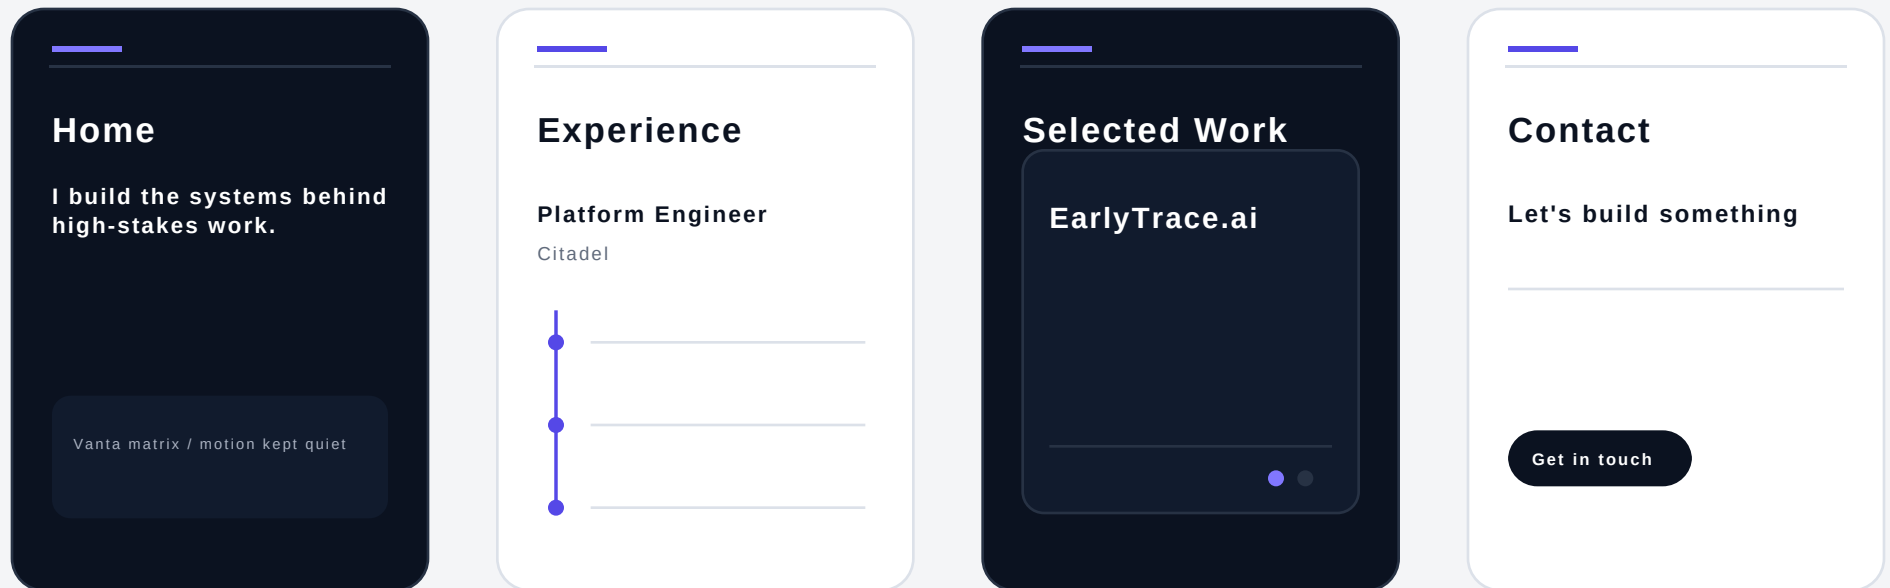

CHRONOLOGY

Chronology is supporting context, not a hero.

Four pages. One visual conviction.

Each page gets a distinct entrance, then settles into the same composed language.
